

Almonds are unique in so many ways, except one:
the amount of water they use.

Most fruit and nut trees in California use about the same amount of water as almonds

Learn more at almondsustainability.org